An exploded view of a 13mm speaker driver. The components are shown in a disassembled state, revealing the internal structure. From top to bottom, there is a gold-colored tweeter with a radial grille, a larger gold-colored midrange driver with a similar grille, and a black circular base housing the voice coil and magnet assembly. The base is shown in a cutaway view, revealing the internal components. The entire assembly is set against a background of light gray diagonal lines.
