The image features two hands, one on the left and one on the right, firmly gripping a white cable. The hands are pulling the cable apart, creating tension. Above the hands, a red prohibition sign (a circle with a horizontal bar) is superimposed over the cable. The background is a vibrant red, with a light blue area featuring a pattern of white circles in the upper right corner. At the bottom of the image, a large, coiled section of the white cable is visible, showing its flexibility.
